JOHNNY WONDER

A. A cow's horns

are made up mostly of a special growth of tough skin material called "keratin." The nails on your fingers and toes are made of this material. So are the claws and hooves of animals. The horns keep growing throughout the animal's life. Since cattle can use their horns as weapons, they are sometimes dehorned to make them safer for cattlemen to handle. The cattle are also less likely to injure each other. Some breeds do not grow horns. Cattle born without horns, or whose horns are removed, are called "polled" cattle.

You can win a World Almanac if your question is selected. Send your name and age to JOHNNY WONDER, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1258, Santa Cruz, CA 95061.
